

Coast Cottages Marketing Video

VIDEO

City scenes - traffic; buildings; people walking downtown

beach with sunset
exterior of homes

Jay Hughes on camera

porch of house

row of houses with beach in background

Hamby in front of house

Hamby on camera

street with homes

Hamby on camera

interior of homes
exterior of homes
homes under construction

AUDIO

Narrator:

Breaking free from the confinements of hectic city life is a dream we all wish for. Along the coast of Georgia, on St. Simon's Island, a community has drawn city dwellers to a peaceful oasis which takes us back to a less hurried time and place.

Testimonial (Jay Hughes)

Perfect place for a beach home.

Narrator:

Wanting to re-create the pleasant environment of those cherished beach cottages, developer Denval Hamby has formed the community of Coast Cottages at St. Simon's. Hamby, who worked in the Atlanta development and construction community for 30 years, has taken his vast experience and used it to create this unique community.

Denval Hamby - Question

You have an extensive background in development. Why did you choose St. Simon's?

Narrator:

The care that went into the planning of Coast Cottages is evident from the moment you lay eyes on its inviting streetscape.

Denval Hamby - Question

You have a strong desire to keep ecological balance. How do you blend the community with the environment?

Narrator:

Every detail of every home upholds Hamby's desire to maintain the traditional look and feel of the community. At the same time, concern for quality of construction is never compromised.

Coast Cottages Marketing Video

VIDEO

builders working on houses
special features of houses

pool and beach area

house with natural foliage

views of and from houses

Hamby on camera

Bensons on camera

Hamby on camera

exteriors of community beach sunset interiors of homes landscaping community

Jay Hughes on camera
traditional home

AUDIO

Denval Hamby - Question

Why is high quality construction so important in an environment such as this?

Narrator:

Not only does the Coast Cottages community lend itself to its location on St. Simon's, but each cottage lends itself to its particular location within the community. Homes are built to take best advantage of the views of the ocean and the surrounding areas.

Denval Hamby - Question

How does a home owner get a unique home in this community?

Testimonial (Sheila & Howard Benson)

Denval Hamby

Future Plans

Narrator:

A traditional beach community with all the simple pleasures, located on beautiful, unspoiled St. Simon's Island. Coast Cottages home owners relish the beautiful weather, the marvelous architecture and the unparalleled scenery, while enjoying an unaffected lifestyle.

Testimonial (Jay Hughes)

Friendly atmosphere of the Coast Cottages community;
Perfect home for his family.